Dear Parent / Carer

As part of Saxmundham Free Schools Aspire and post-16 provision your daughter has been invited to attend the Women of the Future Conference at the John Innes Centre, Norwich on Wednesday 29 November 2017.

This conference is a unique event designed to inspire the next generation of female STEM (Science, Technology, English and Maths) professionals.

The lack of women in STEM careers continues to be a real cause for concern for employers.

The ethos of the event is to raise aspirations, facilitate engagement with world class scientists and leaders and promote careers in STEM subjects. The day will incorporate inspirational speakers. There will be a range of activities including interactive workshops, networking sessions and exhibition stands led by a range of academics and STEM employers including global tech giant Intel.

Students will travel to the conference by minibus leaving Saxmundham Free School at 8:30am and will return to the school at approximately 3:30pm. Lunch will be provided. Students must wear school uniform.

Please complete and return the attached consent form to Miss Allen by Friday 17 November 2017.

Yours sincerely

Miss N Moe
